

Raw Data Export

There are various export options for your data. One possibility is the raw data export, the functionality of which is described in detail in this documentation.

Raw data export allows you to export raw data tables to an FTP server, for example, to fill your data warehouse with tracking data. The CSV format is used as the file format.